

OPTIONS FOR SELF-MANAGED ABORTION

with April Lockley, DO

A live, online workshop!

Dr. April Lockley is a family medicine physician in New York City and the medical director of the Miscarriage and Abortion Hotline, also known as the M+A Hotline (1-833-246-2632), which is staffed by volunteer physicians, midwives and nurse practitioners seven days a week to answer texts and calls from people about abortion pills and miscarriage.

Students will learn the various ways individuals self-manage and self-source medication abortion, as well as the impact of increasing telehealth access to abortion services.

What is Self-Managed Abortion (SMA)?

Self-Managed Abortion is a term that refers to an abortion that takes place outside of a medical setting. Historically it refers only to abortions that are not supervised by a clinician, such as use of abortifacient plants/herbs or physical interventions intended to induce miscarriage. It has now come to include medication abortion, whether overseen by a medical provider or acquired through alternative means.
